The pilot strike continues Friday – almost all domestic flights in Scandinavia are cancelled tomorrow

Norwegian's passengers will again be affected by the pilot strike. Tomorrow, Friday, nearly 35,000 passengers will be affected. Almost all domestic flights in Norway, Sweden and Denmark will be cancelled due to the strike. This also applies to flights between the Scandinavian capitals. Long-haul flights between Scandinavia/England and USA, and Scandinavia and Thailand will not be affected by the pilot strike. Norwegian will do everything possible to ensure that flights between other parts of Europe continue as normal.

Passengers who have registered their mobile phone numbers on their Norwegian profiles, and who are affected by the strike, will be notified via SMS from Norwegian. We urge all passengers to keep themselves updated via Norwegian's website and check the Flight Status for information on specific routes.

Customers affected by cancellations may call our customer service on +47 21 49 21 49.

Norwegian would like to apologise to all passengers who are affected by cancellations. We will continue to do everything we can to ensure that our passengers will be as little affected as possible due to the pilot strike.
